Pardee presents Shooting Star Awards

(Hendersonville, N.C.) Pardee Hospital presented Shooting Star awards in February to Sherrin Nolle, 3 West, Debra Fitzgerald, radiology, and Sharon Banther, patient financial services.

The Shooting Star Award recognizes Pardee associates who consistently go above and beyond in their jobs and serve as role models to their fellow associates. Winners are nominated by their co-workers to receive the award.

Nolle's co-workers say she is deserving of the Shooting Star because she is such a star performer. They say she consistently provides the same high quality care she would give to her own family. She is a strong patient advocate and will not hesitate to call a physician anytime to provide the patient with what they may need.

Fitzgerald goes out of her way for her patients and her co-workers. Her co-workers say she can put a patient at ease just by taking a little extra time to talk to them when they are nervous or confused. Her co-workers often go to her with questions since she has been an associate at Pardee for more than ten years. She is a team player and helps to motivate her co-workers.

Banther has been a Pardee associate for 30 years. Her co-workers say she is the kind of associate that leads by example and is always there for support and information. They say Banther is meticulous, methodical and detail oriented.

Pardee Hospital is a not-for-profit community hospital founded in 1953. The main hospital is licensed for 222 acute care beds and is the second largest employer in Henderson County. The hospital has several locations separate from the main campus, including an adult day services center, a health education center in the Blue Ridge Mall, home care services, a rehab and wellness center, a midwifery program, various family and internal medicine practices, and an urgent care facility.
